ABOUT ME

Hi there! I'm Andi -- a glass half full kind of girl and wife to E, mama to Lucy and Winnie, dog mom to Jack, sister, daughter, entrepreneur, and lover of life. We live in a 100-year-old house in Nashville and spend a lot of time making the house feel like a home and enjoying our backyard greenhouse!

On my blog, I share about life, motherhood, home decor, self-love and inspiration, travel, and our adventures as a family. Aside from my blog, I also manage a digital marketing agency, Lucky Collective, as well as a shop of curated, travel-inspired textiles.
